Te Runanga o Ngati Pikiao Trust invites you to join us on a memorable gathering featuring keynote speakers and presenters from indigenous nations across the world.

This international conference aims to provide positive learning with the aim of transforming indigenous communities through cultural recognition and practices.

Whilst encouraging indigenous nations worldwide to gather and to validate our cultural norms and realities whilst looking at how we contribute to reducing suicide and its impacts on indigenous peoples.

Running alongside the conference is an indigenous youth summit. The summit intends to build indigenous youth champions so they are able to return back to their communities and lead positive changes from a youth’s perspective.

Nō reirā, NAU MAI, HAERE MAI! Welcome, Welcome, Welcome!
Who is this conference for?

- Iwi, hapū, whānau, and tribal leaders from indigenous communities
- Young people - ages 15-25 (Youth Summit)
- Any individuals with an interest in indigenous suicide prevention
- Those who work with indigenous communities
- Non-indigenous community members and practitioners
- Planners and funders of clinical and social services
- Mental health, health & social services, and corrections
- Staff of community organisations

Day 1
Welcoming Ceremony & Pre Conference Sessions
Venue: Rotorua, New Zealand (TBC)

Days 2 & 3
Conference & Youth Summit
Venue: Rotorua, New Zealand (TBC)

Registrations
Early Bird registrations are now open until the 1st of April 2016.

Abstract / Presentation submissions
Close on the 27th of February for both the Conference and Youth Summit.

Log onto our website or Facebook page to register, submit an abstract or for more information

Youth Summit:
Building the leadership of Indigenous Youth - Register now